Congratulations on successfully completing the Food Safety Manager Examination. You have now demonstrated that your knowledge and skills meet measurable and specific food safety standards adopted by the Conference for Food Safety Protection to protect the public from foodborne illnesses.

Shortly you will receive your official score and a certificate that you can frame and a wallet card. The wallet card is a handy way of showing your current employer or new employer that you are certified.

Your certification is valid for a period of five years or less, depending on your local jurisdiction requirements. We recommend contacting your local health department to verify your local statutes.

You also have an obligation to provide food safety training for those who work for you. More information about food safety worker training and your own certification can be found at the NRFSP website at www.nrfsp.com or by calling their toll-free number at 1-800-446-0257.
